

NORFOLK SOCIAL.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, Va., October 21.—Society has revelled in the horse show this week. All of the social events, except a few marriages, have been connected with the horse show or dependent upon it. The horse show itself was a great social event. It was used as a means of creating and discharging the obligations of society. There were many acquaintances made and many former acquaintances were renewed. It goes without saying, of course, that there were flirtations and that there will be engagements and marriages as the result of the games of the young and the gay meet—the losers are those who win. The horse show made a delightful week for the members of the society of Norfolk and for the friends who came here during the week to share in the brilliancy of the general gala time for beautiful women and gallant men. The dressing was not so much a feature of the week as was the hospitality of the men and the graciousness of the women. Norfolk was prodigal in all of those amiable and refined qualities of mind and heart which have made Virginia and her people distinguished for three centuries. Everywhere who came here were immediately conscious of the welcome that was cordial and charming. The people here showed in their faces and in their agreeable manners that they were glad to renew old ones. The week was one long social holiday. Some of the special events were not lacking in the same joyous spirit.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cousins was the scene of a reception in honor of their daughter, Evelyn Stewart, who was married on Wednesday to Mr. Robert Holliday Parkinson. The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, the color scheme being pink and green. The table in the dining-room was pretty. In the center was a tall vase of chrysanthemums, and at the corners were candelabra with pink candles, which radiated light from the chandelier to the table. The hours for calling were from 9 to 11, and during that time the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Cousins, Miss Cousins and Mr. Parkinson. Those who assisted in serving were Miss Louise E. Cousins, Miss Pauline Shoemaker, of Richmond; Miss Blanche Cummins, of Crew; Miss Edna Cousins and Miss Nannette E. Cousins. Some of those who called were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Parkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Parkinson, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cousins, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Fristoe, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burwell Demings, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cousins, Miss Edna Cousins, Miss Hattie Way, Mr. J. H. Parkinson, of Baltimore; Mr. T. J. Herpin and Mr. J. D. Herpin, of Southampton county; Mr. William M. Harrin, of William and Mary College; Mr. Thurman Beale, of Richmond; Mr. John Upson and Mr. J. F. Parry.

After the horse show Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Starke entertained Miss Elizabeth Wynne, Miss Guida Chamberlain, Mr. W. W. Old, Jr., and Dr. Herbert Old at supper at their home. In the morning Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cooke, Miss Emily Gibson, Miss Mary Lou Cooke and Mr. Montgomery Osborne at supper at the Virginia Club Tuesday evening after the horse show.

SOUTH BOSTON SOCIAL.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SOUTH BOSTON, Va., October 21.—A brilliant party, given in the afternoon last Tuesday, at the hospitable home of Mrs. Garland E. Faulkner, on Broad street, Society was there bedecked in her band of silks and mouselines, to play progressive euchre. Mrs. W. H. Faulkner won a pretty piece of china as the first prize, and Miss Ruth Singleton blushing carried off the consolation. The rooms were decorated with cut flowers, and the refreshments were elegant and heartily enjoyed. The hostess was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Owens, of Lynchburg.

Those invited were Mesdames E. M. Penick, Robert H. Edmondson, V. L. Fowler, Charles T. Yancy, W. L. Jordan, C. V. Brookes, R. E. Jordan, J. C. Harris, A. H. ## FACULTY RECEPTION.

President and Mrs. Lyon G. Tyler Give Elegant Entertainment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., October 21.—President and Mrs. Lyon G. Tyler, at the President's home, beautifully situated on the campus of the College of William and Mary, gave a reception Tuesday evening to the members of the faculty and their wives. With the waltzes being played among the flowers on the dining table, within the same walls that have sheltered all of the presidents of the college since the days of Jacobus Blair, the scene was not unlike those of Colonial days.

Besides the popular President and his fair lady, there were present Dr. and Mrs. John Leslie Hall, Dr. L. A. Norton and Miss Alice Wharton, Mrs. Charles E. Bishop, Prof. and Mrs. John W. Ritchie, Prof. and Mrs. Henry T. Louth, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Coffey, Miss Nancy Davis, Prof. R. M. Crawford, Miss Margaret Murphy, and Mrs. Mammie Jones.

It was regretted that Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Stubbs and Dr. Charles E. Bishop were absent from the college family circle, which were delayed by sickness in their home, and Dr. Bishop is attending a State Y. M. C. A. committee meeting at the University of Virginia.

The college in her balmy pre-revolutionary days had about sixty students and six professors. Dr. Wharton, who was a member of the faculty during the presidency of Col. Benj. T. Ewell, relates the following incident: "In 1861, a student struggling against the after-effects of the war between the States, there were four members of the faculty, and only nine students. I thought these professors could teach that number of young men, and consequently I resigned. One of the students would not study. When asked why, he replied: 'If I were to study hard, I would never do for the report to get out that one ninth of the student of William and Mary College had died in a single session.'"

Those around the banquet board thought of the many changes that have come along the line of enlargement. In 1888, with Dr. Lyon G. Tyler as president, the State took charge of a normal department in William and Mary. Now there are eleven members of the faculty, two hundred and twenty-two students enrolled.

This Alma Mater of fifteen United States Senators, seventy Representatives and in Congress Judges, one chief justice of the United States, supreme court, seventeen Governors of States, and three Presidents of the Republic, still doing her duty as a useful institution, for each year she sends trained teachers into nearly every county of our Commonwealth.

People at Bon Air.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BON AIR, Va., Oct. 21.—Misses Josephine and Evelyn Stiles, daughter and sister of the late Major Robert Stiles, have returned to their country home here where they will be until November 1st. After that time they will be at Mrs. Wrenn's in Richmond.

Mr. Folk Miller has returned after an extended southern trip. He left on Thursday for Lexington, Va., and points north.

Mrs. Lucien Tatum, who has been spending some time with Miss Williams left on Tuesday for Richmond. She will be the guest of Mrs. E. J. Willis.

Miss Bolling, who has been visiting Mrs. R. McC. Bullington, has returned to the Virginia Hospital.

Mrs. Norman Morris and little daughter, who were in the city, left for C. S. Morton in Richmond, during Horse Show week services, read by Mr. F. J. Craig of Richmond, were held on October 15th. Mr. and Mrs. Craig were guests of Misses Philie.

There has been a camping party at Conna Mills. They were Mr. and Mrs. Leand Rankin, Miss Rankin, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rankin, of Fort Hill.

Mrs. Bullington entertained quite a number of friends at her seventh birthday. The young ladies, in the morning, were in the leaves, were barrels of candy, which gave the children barrels of fun to find. Those invited were Eugene Dorothy and Emily Smith, Bessie Morton, Louise Harry, Julia Maury, Virginia and Mary Cox, Mabel Coleman, Lucy Vaden, Esther Francis, Masters, James Pate, Burton and Edward Mary, Melvaine and William Brazier, John Fisher, Herbert Whitworth and Randolph Bolling.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cox left Friday for Cincinnati.

Master James Patton, of Lee Park, has been quite ill.

Mrs. Lynwood Woody spent Horse Show week in Richmond.

Mr. Polk Miller—as only he can—tells how his pocket was picked on President's day in Richmond. He adds that "Who steals my purse steals trash," as he lost only a bill.

Mrs. M. Rucker has returned to Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoemaker, with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams, also Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Guy, drove out from Richmond last Sunday.

Mrs. Truman Barker has been visiting her father, Colonel T. M. Barker, at Mr. Scholk, of Birmingham, Ala., student of the Theological Seminary, preached at the Presbyterian church on October 15th. He was the guest of Prof. Smith.

On November 5th, the Methodists will hold a service for the very first time. A conference held in Danville in November, Miss Virginia Miller spent Tuesday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Polk Miller.

Mrs. R. McC. Bullington will entertain the second meeting of the Card Club.

The West-End guests in Bon Air are Messrs. Montgomery, Cardwell, Garnett and Mr. Rennerode, Messrs. Rouse and Rayetta.

Elegant Stag Banquet.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GRANDY, Va., Oct. 21.—There was a stag banquet given here last Monday evening by Messrs. J. A. Stee, B. F. Smith and R. B. Coleman, in a building on the property of the B. A. L. railroad, in honor of Mr. R. B. Davis, manager for the J. C. Good, Lumber Company, of Chesapeake City, Va. The spread was the most ever seen here on any occasion of its kind.

The music, both vocal and instrumental, was superb, and merriment was kept up until a late hour. Among the invited guests were Messrs. T. H. More, J. B. Epperson, N. F. Nebel, J. A. Dameron, J. A. Dugger, N. H. Dugger, S. B. Bradshaw, N. S. Turnbull, Jr., and Samuel A. Coleman.

NEVER CALLED AGAIN.

How Senator Hanna Kept Out An Unwelcome Caller.

While Senator Hanna, as chairman of the National Republican Committee, was conducting the campaign in 1900 he was greatly annoyed by a man who applied for the position of messenger at the national headquarters. This man tried to see the Senator four days in succession to present his application.

After the fourth visit Senator Hanna sent for the man who was then serving as messenger.

"You say that man who was here just now?" inquired Hanna.

"Yes, sir," said the messenger.

"Do you know what he wants?"

"No, sir."

"He wants your place, and if I see him again he will get it."

Senator Hanna never saw the applicant again.—Boston Herald.

Orange County Hunt.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ORANGE COUNTY, Va., October 21.—The largest hunt occurring here in the county for some months, was that occasioned by the burning of the wheat stacks on the Gaines property a few nights ago. The loss is said to be $1,000, and the insurance $800.

While driving in Central Park, New York, lately, Mrs. Julian C. Keith, of Warrenton, was thrown from her carriage and sustained severe bruises. The animals became frightened at a passing automobile and ran up the side of a bank.

The races at the Plains on Wednesday marked the opening of the hunting season for the Orange County Hunt, of New York. Mr. Townsend, the master, arrived there on Monday.

Many new buildings have been erected
